Andria Timmer, PhD
Assistant Professor, Christopher Newport University

In Hungary, the education system has largely failed the Roma minority. Residential isolation, discrimination, and a manufactured sense of cultural difference create a climate wherein which Roma youth are often segregated into ethnically homogeneous schools or classrooms and have significantly less access to quality education than their majority counterparts. In this presentation, Dr. Andria Timmer will provide an overview of the educational divide and describe in detail one such intervention program, a high school located in a town with a large Roma population.

About the Global Education Colloquium

The GEC is composed of faculty, students and community members who make global education their central focus for research and teaching, and those who incorporate global and education analysis into their areas of primary pursuit.

GEC events are held the third Tuesday of every month on the main campus of Drexel University. You are invited to bring your lunch.

Event will be webcast live through the website.
