Drexel University School of Education presents

CRITICAL CONVERSATIONS IN URBAN EDUCATION

Collective Impact: Acting on a Shared Vision for Urban Education

Register Now

THURSDAY, MAY 7, 2015
5 to 7:30 p.m.

Join Drexel University School of Education for an interactive event on an emerging strategy for change in urban education.

The strategy, known as Collective Impact, provides an opportunity for individuals and organizations, who would otherwise work in isolation, to come together to achieve common goals.

Join this interactive event to:

- Learn about the principles and practices of collective impact
- Discover how collective impact is being successfully used in education
- Network with individuals and organizations currently using the strategy to make real change in Philadelphia

Together, we can make a collective impact for change in urban education.

To register, call 215-895-6770, email ccues@drexel.edu or visit drexel.edu/soe/ccue

Register by April 23, 2015

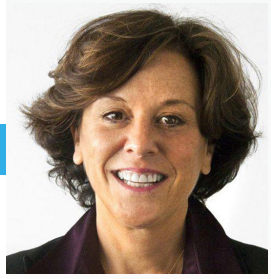
Event will be webcast live through the website.

LOCATION:

Creese Student Center
George D. Behrakis Grand Hall
3210 Chestnut Street
Philadelphia, PA 19104

#DUSOECCUE

SPECIAL GUESTS:



Donna Cooper, Executive Director, Public Citizens for Children and Youth

Stacy E. Holland, Executive Director, The Lenfest Foundation

DREXEL UNIVERSITY
School of Education