Research & Teaching with Geographic Data

Leveraging Philadelphia focused and national data

Please join the Urban Health Collaborative (UHC) for an interactive data application workshop for faculty and post docs. The UHC has compiled data related to health determinants and health outcomes for the greater Philadelphia region. This workshop is an opportunity for faculty and postdocs to 1) explore and understand these datasets, what is available, and what else could be expanded 2) generate ideas for using this data in teaching and research, 3) increase the use of the UHC data, and 4) foster interdisciplinary collaboration among faculty with shared interests. Faculty are encouraged (but not required) to invite collaborators from other schools/colleges to join in the workshop.

We will provide morning coffee and a working lunch from 12-1pm

Please RSVP by January 10th by completing this brief 2 minute survey

Your responses will allow us to tailor our agenda to participants
