Featured Speaker
William Gaudelli, PhD
Teacher's College, Columbia University

This Colloquium explores what is possible and problematic of global citizenship education in the onset of a neonationalist era signaled by the rise of right-populism. The presentation traces the recent globalist period with respect to its educational features: and specifically explores the rise of neoliberalism covalent with globalization that drives the "global education" enterprise with enduring, humanistic efforts to teacher for peace, justice, and sustainability in a fragile, planetary society. William Gaudelli is a professor & chair of the Department of Arts and Humanities at Teachers College, Columbia University.

About the Global Education Colloquium

The GEC is composed of faculty, students, and community members who make global education their central focus for research and teaching, and those who incorporate global and education analysis into their areas of primary pursuit.

GEC events are held every month on the main campus of Drexel University. You are invited to bring your lunch.

Event will be streamed live through the website.
