THE DORNSIFE SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

CASE COMPETITION

Create innovative solutions to address a real-life public health issue impacting Philadelphia.

DORNSIFE WILL HOLD THE FIRST ANNUAL PUBLIC HEALTH CASE COMPETITION ON JANUARY 30, 2020!

The competition, developed by the Office of Public Health Practice, is open to all Dornsife undergraduate, MS, and MPH students who want to partake in a unique learning experience, address a Philadelphia public health problem in a team environment, and have a chance to win prize money!

The competition brings together up to seven interdisciplinary teams of up to five students to create innovative solutions to address a real-life public health issue impacting Philly.

Over just one week, teams will need to collaborate effectively and quickly before presenting their intervention to a panel of judges on Competition Day.

PRIZES

- $500 per member of the winning team
- $200 per member of the runner-up team

FOR RULES & TO REGISTER:

Visit BIT.LY/DSPHCaseComp
Registration opens January 8, 2020. For Dornsife majors only.
Maximum of 7 eligible teams will be selected on a first-come, first-serve basis.

CONTACT:

Caroline Voyles, MPH, Director of Student Placement & Partnership Development
CHV25@DREXEL.EDU