Evidence-Based Evaluation for Workplace Learning, Performance and Change

Thursday, October 29, 2020

12:00 p.m. ET

Presented by Dr. Salvatore Falletta

Clinical Professor and MS in Human Resource Development Program Director, Drexel University School of Education

In this webinar participants will be introduced to the six-step evidence-based approach to evaluating a wide-range of workplace learning, performance, and change (WLPC) interventions. Evidence-based evaluation considers a broader view of what counts as credible evidence as well as the ethicality and context of stakeholder decisions, the evaluand, and evaluation work.

More importantly, the six-step process elucidates evaluation's role in assessing the extent to which WLPC practices and interventions are evidence-based as well as determining their quality (i.e., merit), value (i.e., worth) and effectiveness (i.e., impact).
