EdS in School Psychology Online Open House:

Integrating Developmental and Behavioral Knowledge and Practices in Community Settings

January 5, 2021 | 7:00 p.m. ET

Join us for an upcoming virtual open house to learn more about Drexel University's hybrid EdS in School Psychology. Faculty from the School of Education will share information about the role of school psychology in community settings and will also provide an overview of the EdS program, including:

- Scope and sequence of the program courses
- Available practicum locations and opportunities
- Careers one can pursue

This is a great opportunity to ask questions and find out why Drexel's program is the right choice for you.
