

October Global Health Brown Bag Talk

Interested in exploring global health work? Want to learn more about faculty and student projects in global health? Join the Global Health Brown Bag Talks!

Usama Bilal, MD, PhD, MPH

Assistant Professor, Epidemiology and Biostatistics, Urban Health Collaborative

“Mortality across the continuum of urbanization in the Americas”

Ariela Braverman-Bronstein, PhD(c), MD, MPH

Doctoral Research Fellow, Urban Health Collaborative

“Adolescent birth rates and the urban social environment in Latin American cities”

27 October 2021, 12pm – 1pm

In-person: Nesbitt 440

Zoom (RSVP: <https://bit.ly/2XdAXRS>)

Moderated by Nina Sun, Deputy Director, Global Health and Assistant Clinical Professor

Questions? Interested in giving the next talk? Contact Prof. Sun (nys28@drexel.edu)

Office of Global Health
Drexel Dornsife School of Public Health,
Nesbitt Hall, 3215 Market St., Philadelphia, PA, 191040

