

ANTIRACISM RESEARCH SERIES

Dornsife students are invited to help plan a new research series focused on antiracism.

All Dornsife students are welcome to attend this first meeting to help determine topics for a new research series focused on antiracism. We are hoping to engage as many perspectives as possible from all educational levels of the School of Public Health, so please get involved!

Professor Scarlett Bellamy, Associate Dean of Diversity and Inclusion, and Professor Stephen Lankenau, Associate Dean of Research, will kick off this first meeting.

This series is sponsored by the Dornsife School of Public Health Research Office.

Friday, February 18, 2022
1:00 – 2:00 p.m.
Online via Zoom
