Register (Zoom link will be sent to all registrants prior to the webinar)

This webinar is the second of a 2-part series exploring the topic of human trafficking. During this webinar Dr. Richie-Zavaleta will share research findings with recommendations for healthcare practitioners from survivors. A panel discussion and presentations with regional anti-trafficking initiatives & resources will follow.

Arduizur Carli Richie-Zavaleta, DrPH, MASP, MAIPS, is adjunct faculty at the Graduate and Professional Studies Program for the University of New England. She is also a research fellow at the Center for Justice and Reconciliation of Point Loma Nazarene University, San Diego. Dr. Richie-Zavaleta earned a doctoral degree in public health from the Dornsife School of Public Health at Drexel University. Her diverse background encompasses public health, sociological practices, and human rights. Richie-Zavaleta's research and advocacy are focused on gender-based violence prevention, specifically in the areas of anti-trafficking. Her research on the experience of sex trafficking survivors and their junction of the healthcare is one of the few studies in the U.S. that highlights their recommendations for best identification practices. She currently holds leadership roles for the San Diego County Human Trafficking & CSEC Advisory Council.

Panel Discussion:

- Michael Camal, Special Advisor, Department of Homeland Security Blue Campaign
- Jackie Goldstein, Forensic Interview Specialist, Department of Homeland Security
- Christina Crooks Bryan, Director, Communications & Policy, Delaware Healthcare Association
- Debra Holbrook, Forensic Nurse, Baltimore City Mercy Medical Center

Regional Initiatives and Resources:

- Trish Danner, Region III Outreach Specialist for the U.S. Dept of Health & Human Services. She also serves on the Region III Anti-Human Trafficking Task Force and is the lead of the Regional Interdisciplinary Collaborative Working to Disrupt Human Trafficking (the RIC).
- Christine Woolslayer, Public Health Advisor for the U.S. Dept of Health and Human Services, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health, in Region III, Regional Women's Health Analyst, Regional Minority Health Analyst, and the co-chair for the Region III Anti-Trafficking Federal Interagency Task Force.
