YOU'RE INVITED TO AN UPCOMING WEBINAR!

Moving Forward: Creative Strategies for Promoting Social, Emotional and Behavioral Wellness in the Classroom

TUES. APRIL 26, 2022
11:00 AM ET

Teachers have been presented with a myriad of challenges in the classroom due to the pandemic. In addition to the shifting delivery of instruction, teachers must contend with the social, emotional and behavioral wellness of the students they teach, while managing their own stress and burnout.

In this webinar, our presenters will discuss the wellness needs of educators and present several creative strategies that teachers may readily incorporate into their instructional toolkit that promotes creativity and student engagement within a less stressful classroom environment.

PRESENTED BY:

Amanda L. Lannie, PhD, BCBA-D
Assistant Clinical Professor,
Special Education and Applied Behavior Analysis Programs
Drexel University School of Education

Larry Keiser, PhD
Assistant Clinical Professor,
Creativity & Innovation Programs
Drexel University School of Education

Co-Director
Torrance/Drexel Center for Creativity & Innovation

REGISTER TODAY!
ONLINE.DREXEL.EDU/CREATIVE-STRATEGIES

Questions? Contact: DUonline@drexel.edu | 877.215.0009

Drexel UNIVERSITY | ONLINE