Stalling or Oiling the Engines of Diagnosis?

Tinkering with the DSM in US and UK Psychiatry

WITH PROFESSOR

Martyn Pickersgill

UNIVERSITY OF EDINBURGH

This lecture reflects on ongoing data collection in relation to how psychiatrists (principally based in England and Scotland) account for, and to an extent tinker with, diagnosis. While data is still be collected, it is very clear that the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders is at once both used and lamented.

JANUARY 19, 2023
12:00-1:50 PM
3101 MARKET ST. ROOM 224

Lunch will be provided

Presented by the Department of Sociology and the Center for Science, Technology, and Society

Drexel UNIVERSITY