Drexel FIRST Health Equity Seminar Series

Talk Title: Promoting Cancer Health Equity among Asian Americans: Progress and Opportunities

Please join us for the FIRST Program's Health Equity Seminar, featuring Dr. Carolyn Fang. Dr. Fang is a Professor in the Cancer Prevention and Control Department and an Associate Director for Population Science at Temple Health's Fox Chase Cancer Center.

Cancer is the leading cause of death among Asian Americans; yet little attention has been paid to persistent gaps in cancer screening in this population. This seminar will describe how community-engaged approaches can successfully promote cancer screening behaviors and lead to novel methods for addressing ongoing challenges. New opportunities for engaging Asian American populations to advance health equity will be discussed.

This seminar is scheduled for Thursday, November 30th 2023, 11AM – 12PM in 3600 Market Street, 7th Floor, Room 709
