Drexel FIRST Health Equity Seminar Series

Featuring Dr. Janelle Goodwill, PhD

This seminar series is part of the Drexel FIRST Program, an NIH-funded research initiative focused on fostering inclusive excellence in health disparities research (https://drexelfirst.com/about-drexel-first/). The goal of the seminar series is to provide a forum to discuss and debate exciting work and ideas related to understanding the drivers of health inequities and intervening to eliminate them.

Dr. Janelle Goodwill is a Neubaur Family Assistant Professor at The University of Chicago. Her research centers the mental health experiences of Black Americans, with a particular focus on suicide prevention and mental health promotion. In this work, Janelle explores how strengths such as experiences of hope, social support, and meaning in life protect against adverse outcomes and ultimately promote well-being.
