Going Beyond Participation: Community-Led Design of the Philly Joy Bank, a Guaranteed Income Program and Evaluation

Maternal and Child Health Speaker Series

March 11, 2025 | 11:00 AM – 12:00 PM EST | Online

Nia Coaxum, MPH, CHES

Program Manager
Philly Joy Bank
Div. of Maternal, Child, and Family Health, Philadelphia Dept. of Public Health

Allison Groves, PhD, MHS

Associate Professor
Dept. of Community Health & Prevention, Drexel Dornsife School of Public Health

Elizabeth Salerno Valdez, PhD, MPH

Assistant Professor
Dept. of Community Health & Prevention, Drexel Dornsife School of Public Health

Learning Objectives:

1. Describe racial disparities in health outcomes for birthing parents and infants in Philadelphia.
2. Highlight guaranteed income as a strategy to advance health equity during and after pregnancy.
3. Present the Philly Joy Bank as an example of a public health initiative that was co-created by a community action network.
4. Describe the development of the community-driven evaluation of the Philly Joy Bank.

Register

https://tinyurl.com/5w4fs3tz

Questions: MCH@Drexel.edu

This event is hosted by the Maternal and Child Health Catalyst Program at Drexel University Dornsife School of Public Health.

DREXEL UNIVERSITY
Maternal and Child Health Program
Dornsife School of Public Health